DETAILED ACTION

Examiner's Comments

1. This action is in response to applicant's appeal brief received 8/9/2004 and a subsequent phone interview on 9/14/2005. After review of the appeal brief, it was apparent that applicant's invention was directed towards a novel method of delivering household cleaning and detergent consumer products rather than broadly directed to a delivery system having little or no reference to any structure and wherein the actual product being delivered received little patentable weight. The changes below reflect the invention of a novel product delivery method, specifically a method of delivering household cleaning and detergent consumer products.

Examiner's Amendment

2. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with D. Brit Nelson at 713-226-1361 on 9/14/2005.

The application has been amended as follows:

In claims 1-2, 4-11 and 24-29, all instances of "system" have been replaced with --method--;

In claim 3, line 1, "system" has been replaced with --method--;

Art Unit: 3721

In claims 1, 24, 27, line 3, "adapted to" has been replaced with --comprising steps to--.

Reasons For Allowance

3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art of record fails to anticipate or show in combination a product delivery method wherein household cleaning and detergent consumer products are delivered in bulk to a retail site comprising the steps to manufacture the household cleaning and detergent consumer product at a manufacturing site, fill the household cleaning and detergent product into a bulk reservoir, transport the reservoir to the retail site, and transfer the household cleaning and detergent product contained in the bulk reservoir to individual storage containers at the retail site for retail to the consumer. All pending claims are now allowable over the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
